

THE WILEYS

FEBRUARY 2014

Just before Christmas we sent you a photo of the two of us sitting on a beach in Goa, India, where we were 'dreaming of a white Christmas!' Well, we got what we dreamed for as we travelled home! After three days of travel from Thailand, we finally reached our 5th airport (out of six) in Atlanta, Georgia, only to find ourselves in the middle of an unusually extreme ice and snow storm that affected the whole southern United States! Needless to say, we got to know the Atlanta airport TOO well, enduring eight cancelled flights and an extra two days of waiting in lines, dozing on chairs, and unable to do anything about it! Roads closed, hotels booked up or unreachable, thousands of flights cancelled.... Lots of opportunities to share with fellow travelers, even in the midst of all of our exhaustion! We finally got on a flight to Nashville (not our destination of Knoxville)... rented a car, overnights with Deb's sister, drove to the Knoxville airport the next day to discover our bags had actually found their way to the right airport! Our bodies were so confused with sleep deprivation and jetlag that it worked to our advantage. The ice on our road kept us home for a few more days, (not a bad thing!) and now, two weeks later, we're under 9 inches of white powder again! Be careful what you dream of!!!

FAMILY NEWS

Nick and Melissa continue to plan for their April 26th wedding, and we're so very excited for them! Kim is moving to California at the end of February, and we were so blessed to be able to spend this last weekend with her in Nashville.

ASIA MISSION TRIP

This trip was perhaps our best ever! With intense ministry on the front and back end, and several weeks in between of 'mini-sabbatical' to rest and work on writing our books, we've seen the hand of God in so many ways. We had unusual opportunities to share the hope that is within us, and have kept connected with several of these new friends! Wonderful reunions... deep ministry times... praying with a GREAT group of intercessors for workers in a closed access nation... catching up with friends we hadn't seen for almost a decade!

DESTINY SCHOOL OF MINISTRY (DSM)

While in India, we had an inkling that some surprises awaited us back home in Tennessee, and that some new direction was brewing. First, our hearts for equipping believers in developing nations (where there is less access to training) has been increasing. Then the school scheduled to begin in February was cancelled. So we are now preparing to take DSM to Kenya this coming August!

Stay tuned for further updates and info!

We are so grateful for all of the ways each of you invest in us — in prayer, notes of encouragement, calls, and finances. Thank you for your partnership in keeping us moving forward!
